THE CITY'S BUSINESS

TRUSTEES RECEIVE COMMUNICATIONS FROM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The board of trustees met in regular session at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, August 23, 1915. Members present: O. A. Lane, president of the board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, J. S. Thompson, A. W. Tower and Geo. Williams. Also present: T. W. Watson, city manager; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; W. E. Evans, city attorney; H. B. Lynch, manager of public service department; Edw. M. Lynch, city engineer; Geo. Herald, city marshal; A. H. Lankford, fire marshal.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce accompanied by a copy of a resolution adopted by that body requesting the board of trustees of the city of Glendale to call a bond election for the purpose of voting bonds necessary for the purchase of an auto fire truck equipped with a pumping engine. On motion the same was ordered filed.

A second communication was received from the Chamber of Commerce accompanied by a copy of a resolution adopted by that body requesting the board of trustees to call an election for the purpose of voting a $20,000 bond issue, which amount is to be used for repairing Verdugo wash.

In connection with this subject, City Manager Watson suggested the advisability of conferring with the Messrs. Ross and Thom to see if they would concur in the doing of such work along the wash through their property.

On motion of Trustee Grist the communication was referred to the city engineer and city manager to take up with Messrs. Ross and Thom as suggested.

A further communication from the Chamber of Commerce submitted a copy of the report of the committee appointed by the president of the Chamber of Commerce to investigate a report on an industrial site or district for the city of Glendale. The report was read and upon motion of Trustee Tower was ordered to be received and filed, and a vote of thanks hereby tendered to the committee and to the Chamber of Commerce for its work in regard to this matter.

A communication was received from J. F. Walters, president of the Glendale and Montrose Railway company accompanied by a time table of that road requesting the permission of the board of trustees to change the running time of cars, so as not to be required to give strictly hourly service as set forth in the franchise. Mr. Burton of the Montrose Railway company explained the proposition to the effect that it was intended to install through car service between Los Angeles and Montrose and was a change in the direction of the betterment of the service.

The proposed time table provided half-hour service from 6 a. m. until 9 a. m. Hour service from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. Hour and twenty minute service from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m. Hour service from 2 p. m. until 4 p. m., and half-hour service from 4 p. m. until 7 p. m.

Upon advice from the city attorney no action was taken in the matter.

At 8 o'clock the hearing of protests was called for against the installation of ornamental street lights on a portion of Brand boulevard (district No. 9). The clerk read protests filed in his office by Anna Talie Esterman, Albert C. Day, M. M. Gillespie and Mr. Brown. On motion of Trustee Thompson the protests were denied and a resolution presented by the manager of the public utility department, No. 849, a resolution of the board of trustees of the city of Glendale ordering the necessary appliances to be installed for lighting a portion of Brand boulevard in said city, was read and adopted by the following vote: Ayes—Grist, Lane, Thompson, Tower and Williams.

A petition was presented signed by P. A. C. Moore and twenty-six others representing a majority of frontage, requesting the city clerk to commence the necessary proceedings for the condemnation of land necessary for the opening of Eighth street from Glendale avenue to Verdugo road, as shown on map accompanying the petition. In regard to the petition, Messrs. Adams, Root and Moore addressed the board presenting their views in regard to the subject.

On motion the petition was referred to the city engineer to check up the frontage and report.

The following demands were read and referred to the finance committee:

Moore & Stoddard, $7.08.
Baker Iron Works, $40.42.
Glendale Press, $42.53.
Holabird Reynolds El. Co., $26.29.
Frank M. Kelsey, $5.
W. C. Rich, $4.50.
So. Cal. Electric Co., $253.92.

The city manager made a report in regard to the fire and police telephone system, recommending that on account of the expense nothing further be done at present. In regard to the changes in the city hall, he reported that the same had been approved by the various members of the board of trustees and the work had begun.

Trustee Tower made a motion, which was carried, that when the board adjourn it would be to meet at 2 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, August 25.

Mr. Burton of the Glendale and Montrose Railway company requested permission to put up a sign at the junction of Howard and Broadway to the effect that "Cars do not stop here." On motion the request was granted.

PYTHIAN PICNIC

FRATERNAL ORDER PREPARES FOR BIG TIME AT VERDUGO PARK LABOR DAY

Preparations are now well on the way for the holding of the Pythian picnic at Verdugo park September 6. There is every indication that the attendance will be fully up to the estimates already made. A splendid program has been prepared and many prizes provided. The official program will shortly be issued. Exhibition drills will be given by the D. O. K. K. Patrol, the White Star Patrol of the Glendale Elks and the Los Angeles temple, No. 73, Pythian Sisters. The Silver Star brass band will furnish music on the grounds and Hinsdale's orchestra will supply the music for the dancing.

Among the prizes to be given are two large loving cups from the city of Glendale and four tug-of-war cups. One of the amusing features of the games will be the slow walking contest over a distance of fifteen feet, open to men, women and children, including visitors. There will be prizes for boys and girls, a hill-climbing contest and a baby show.

QUALITY GROCERY NOW UNDER NEW OWNERSHIP

Oma Fish and Archie Parker, both well-known citizens and property owners of Glendale, recently consummated a deal whereby they purchased the Quality grocery at Brand and Third street from W. B. Murphy and are now actively engaged in building up the patronage of the store. The firm name will be known as Fish & Parker, and many improvements will be made in the store service as well as the quality and quantity of the stock carried. As both Mr. Fish and Mr. Parker are gentlemen of wide experience in the mercantile field, their business venture will without doubt be a most successful one.

WARNING TO CAMPERS

State Forester Homans combined sound sense with a flash of humor in preparing warning cards to campers and automobile tourists. He urges them to be thoughtful when lighting matches or building campfires in wooded country or along a brushy or grassy road. "When lighting a match," says Homans, "use your head—the match can't. A person who leaves a campfire unextinguished belongs in jail whether or not he is caught. Where do you belong?"

PARKERETTES

PLAIN, PUNGENT, PUTRID, POLITICAL AND PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

The most sober, intelligent driver of his own machine, loaded with his own precious family, is absolutely at the mercy of the ignorant, careless, stupid, drunken driver of another machine the moment he enters street or road. The many accidents due to drunken drivers would indicate careless examination of applicants for license.

The bravery of the Georgia murder mob in hanging Frank, with his throat cut, is nearly equal to that of the Irish soldier in the Mexican war. "Be gorra," said Pat, "I cut the legs off of five Greasers myself," was his boast. When asked why he did not cut their heads off, "Troth, somebody else had done that," was his reply.

When Glendale comes into her own, with streets duly shaded and flowered, the moment a man leaves the door of his house he will be in a park, through which the streets will be mere tunnels of shade. With great parks all around and everybody owning machines, and a generous developing of our ample school grounds, we ought to be able to get along.

Ford, the noted manufacturer of auto machines, has some practical notions for doing good. He recently applied to the governor of New York for a "trusty" convict, intending to use him in his immense hive of industry, where no degrading marks of prison life would follow him.

Is it not strange how ready everybody is to wipe out the "low-down saloon," when of all saloons they are the most harmless? Nobody ever started via the liquor route to the devil from a barrel-house saloon. They start in at the gilded palace, the fashionable society swelldom. They graduate at the low-down saloon and they rapidly get there.

The danger imminent from dams often cheaply constructed for holding in reserve great quantities of water for irrigation purposes, is ever a threatening menace to the territory served. A break sweeps everything in reach in general wreckage and leaves the improvements depending on it paralyzed and abjectly helpless.

While it seems unjust to arraign the entire state of Georgia for the mob-murder of Frank, it is nevertheless a fact that the taint of the crime tarnishes the name and fame of the commonwealth in its entirety. To "lynch a negro" on mere suspicion of crime never committed has been too easy in the South, and nobody punished therefor by the courts, has installed "Judge Lynch" pretty securely, until a white man is not safe.

The gulf storm that swept over the Texas coast carrying destruction of property into many millions and devastating the land, seems awful to contemplate, but the storm of passion-lynching and lawlessness that swept over Georgia at about the same time inflicted loss of character on that commonwealth beyond all ability to compute.

In 1892 the favoring of compulsory educational measures in several state platforms defeated the parties advocating these measures in these states and aiding in this way to the election of President Cleveland. Today every state in the Union, with three exceptions, has a rigid compulsory law of that character. Georgia is one of the exceptions.

Forty years ago all state prisons were slave-pens, the leading purpose being merely to coin the muscle of the prisoner into work, enriching some contractor who paid the management an agreed stipend per diem, not a cent reaching the prisoner or his family. Any thought of reform or betterment for the prisoner was not contemplated. Slowly the procession of reform came into legislation and management until the prisoner of today in most states and many municipalities is paid a wage that goes to his needy family.

It is not in evidence that delegates seeking guards for other state prisons are falling over each other in their anxiety to secure those of the Georgia prison type. They may fill the bill very well for that unfortunate commonwealth, but they would hardly fit anywhere in a law-abiding country.

The murderer inside the Georgia prison who nearly fatally cut the throat of the unfortunate prisoner, Frank, can give the murder mob outside the laugh by saying, "I had the first whack at him." It could hardly pass for a brave act outside of a Georgia mob to boast: "We hung a man with his throat already cut."

TO CARE FOR WATER

INTERESTED CITIZENS RESOLVE TO PROMOTE CONSTRUCTION OF NEW CONDUIT STREET

City Manager Watson presided over a meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the city hall to consider plans for handling the surplus waters of Sycamore canyon. Twenty property holders were present. The chairman said that had the meeting been held in December or January, when the facts concerning the flood waters would be very patent and pressing, there would undoubtedly have been a larger attendance. Plans, he said, had been proposed at the last meeting by which the construction of a conduit street were indorsed. They had 95 per cent of the signatures of property owners along the Childs tract in favor of the construction of an underground conduit, but as the engineer's report showed that such a conduit would cost $100,000, an open ditch $60,000 and a conduit street $33,000, the last meeting held in connection with this subject had indorsed the conduit street. It was now the duty of this meeting to act in accordance with that resolution.

Mr. G. B. Woodberry, secretary of the meeting, said that the matter of a water ditch had been discussed thoroughly and while there had been some objections to a street that was to be used as a water ditch, those had disappeared as soon as it was known that the street would be substantial and that it would be a permanent improvement. The street would be a fifty-foot-wide construction, though that width was of course only tentative; it would have two or three inches of a crown and would slope to the gutter with a good fall as it came close to the curb. The curb would be high—fifteen inches or more—the sidewalk to slope down from the houses or lots, and if such a thing as a flood should come, the street would handle it with ease.

Mr. O. A. Lane, chairman of the city trustees, stated that according to the city engineer's report a conduit street would cost $35,000, an open ditch $60,000, and an underground conduit $100,000. He favored the program as outlined and was glad to learn that Tropico would co-operate in the matter.

Dr. Mabry of Tropico explained that Tropico was willing to assist in the matter and would help by opening up Cypress avenue to meet the new boulevard that it was contemplated to construct from Verdugo road to the San Fernando road, following the line of the railway. However, he suggested that it might be better to make a short cut and eliminate some of the turns involved in following the proposed street railway.

The chairman and several others explained that at the point where Dr. Mabry wished the short cut to be made there was a considerable ascent and that that would be avoided by following the line suggested by the committee.

Mr. Anderson of Sycamore canyon was present and asked several pertinent questions regarding the formation of districts for the purpose of constructing the proposed street and also as to the methods proposed for the handling of the sand and debris brought down the canyon by the floods.

Mr. Hartley, Mr. McElroy, Mr. Kendall, Mr. Chandler, L. E. Brockman, the Rev. A. B. Smart, Mr. Peterson and others took part in the discussion.

Mr. Lane explained that by the construction of a catch basin at the mouth of the canyon it would be possible to catch the debris and sand and to handle the waters thus practically filtered on the street.

Mr. Watson, the chairman, stated that he now lived in the district that would have to bear the greater part of the burden and that he was willing to go with the majority. On his suggestion a motion was carried to appoint committees to forward the matter. Mr. Brockman, Mr. McElroy and Mr. Hartley were appointed a committee to get signatures of a majority of the frontage in the district affected for a petition for the new street.

Dr. Ludwig Grossman, Mr. Meeker and Mr. Anderson were also appointed a committee to confer with the supervisors as to the possibility of getting assistance and to get legal opinions as to the formation of a district that would include those interested both inside and outside the city lines.

GETTING THE WRONG PERSPECTIVE

It is rather amusing to read some of the sage comments made by special correspondents with regard to the war and its effects. There are several reliable war correspondents who bring to their business a knowledge of foreign nations and of foreign languages necessary, one would imagine, to such a calling. Under the strict censorship established by all the warring nations these sage observers manage to get some real news through and when they are forced to resort to subterfuges to satisfy the managing editor's demand for news they generally contrive to send something that is not too far fetched.

There are others, however, who have been torn from the arms of a fond admiring coterie of friends, who have never seen outside their native town until perhaps they struck Chicago for the first time or meandered gaping down the "Great White Way" in New York. Some of these naive "experts" are both fearful and wonderful. The work the men of this genus did in the Boer war, the Boxer uprising and the Russo-Japanese war was extremely funny to those able to appreciate it. From South Africa floated out stories of high officials using targets in the likeness of Paul Kruger for pistol practice; from China came wonderful tales of Russians boiled in oil; from Japan, where the censorship was most effective, one callow genius, at his wit's end because his managing editor reminded him that he was eating and drinking and doing nothing, came a wierd story of his adventures in a tea garden.

On a par with such magnificent efforts is a story that is now going the rounds of the press to the effect that the "traditional English gentleman is quitting;" that castles all over England, Scotland and Wales are for rent and that hundreds of the proprietors are quitting for good. The correspondent goes on to instance a number of English and other properties for sale or rent in support of his wonderful discovery.

If the correspondent had been at all observant in the past years he would have known that there is nothing extraordinary in all this. Take up any copy of that well known English magazine, "Country Life," published during the past fifteen years; or look at the back advertising columns of the London daily and weekly papers and you will find that throughout all those years, to put a limit to it, the same or similar advertisements have been appearing. There have always been a number of properties to sell or to let and there is no inference from that fact possible that has any bearing on the war.

It would be just as clever for some eastern correspondent of one of the New York papers, say, to come into Los Angeles and taking up a copy of one of the Sunday papers give a list of the real estate ads and lugubriously conclude that the Pacific coast was going to the dogs and that everybody was hastening to get away from it. Great is the mystery of the callow correspondent out on the loose.

TEACHING YOUTH TO SAVE

While Americans have the reputation of being the most wasteful nation in the world at the same time they can show a wonderful advance in the volume of their savings. In fact a most gratifying number of citizens every year show that they understand that a good sized bank account is a guaranty of independence. No wonder the dollar is styled "almighty." Its influence is felt everywhere and its possession marks all the way from common independence to absolute power.

No more valuable lesson can be taught the youth of the land than the importance of beginning to save a portion of what one earns. A good citizen is inevitably a good saver—other things being granted. Education should include some instruction in the simple principles of economics and some training in the use of money and in habits of thrift.

School savings banks are now an integral part of the school system in the United States as they have been in Europe for some time. Mrs. Sara L. Oberholtzer of Philadelphia is the leading exponent of this work in the United States. Belgium was the first country to install the school bank through one of her educators, Prof. Francois Laurent before 1873. All Europe followed Belgium in the work. Before the present war, every public school in France and Belgium enforced an intense application of the system. It was introduced systematically in the United States at Beloit, Wis., in 1876.

John Henry Thiry, a native of Belgium, permantly implanted school savings in the public schools of the New England states, in 1885. Pittsburg is the leading city in the work today. San Francisco was at the front with 13,000 pupil depositors last year. Oakland public schools have done much with the system. The 1915 reports show more than $5,000,000 in deposit; to the credit of the school children of the United States, with more than 1500 grammar schools concerned.

California has taken the lead in introducing and working out the system in the high schools of the state. High school savings systems are in successful operation in Berkeley high school, at San Jose, Alameda and Los Angeles Manual Arts high school. In those schools the pupils do all the clerical work such as receiving deposits, bookkeeping, figuring interest dividends, making out daily financial statements and a great deal of other detail in connection with the system. In San Jose and Alameda, high school pupils act as collectors for grammar schools as well.

This system is of immense value to the young people in training them in habits of thrift and also in giving them a thorough posting in the principles of banking in a manner that brings the working of banking home to them personally and practically. State Superintendent Hyatt of the California schools says: "I should be glad to see the school savings banks in all the schools of California. They are worthy of high commendation." It may be expected that the system will extend rapidly in this thrifty state.

Commissioner Claxton's suggestion that the United States, erect a national university at Washington which might be a meeting ground of the nation would go far to stop war.

INDUSTRIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

The following report from the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce was read at the meeting of the city trustees on Monday evening:

Gentlemen: The undersigned were appointed members of a committee for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the feasibility of establishing an industrial district in the city of Glendale or in territory contiguous thereto; the purpose of said report being to set forth the advantages and disadvantages, if any, of the establishment of such a district in the city of Glendale.

Your committee has viewed all of the territory in the city of Glendale that to it seemed most likely to be suitable for such district, bearing in mind the purposes for which such district should be established, to-wit: planing mills and all industries now being conducted in the city of Glendale or hereafter to be established therein, be located in a certain portion of the city that would be most accessible to railroads, street cars, public highways and other facilities. The committee has met numerous times, formulated a plan which to it seemed the most feasible and would bring about with most expediency the result desired. In furtherance of said plan, the committee has communicated with and called upon the officers of the Southern Pacific railroad, has talked with business men and officers of the city of Glendale, has viewed the location, having in mind all of the desirable features that should attend such a location and has come to the following conclusion, which it respectfully reports:

That it would be desirable to have established in the city of Glendale, or in territory contiguous thereto, an industrial district, the same to be located at a point easily accessible to the railways, highways and street railways; that it should be located at a place where few, if any, residences are now located. That all the lumber yards, planing mills, factories or other business now being conducted in the city of Glendale, or contiguous thereto, be removed to such location within a reasonable period of time. That the necessary switches and sidings be laid for the purpose of loading and unloading cars. That the streets and highways leading thereto be improved so as to bear heavy hauling.

That by the establishment of such a district it would define for all time, or at least for a long time in the future, the location of all industries that are seeking to locate in or near the city of Glendale.

Your committee, in its endeavor to bring about a satisfactory solution of this problem, has taken up with the proper officers of the Southern Pacific railroad, the establishment of a passenger and freight depot at a point at or near Broadway and San Fernando road, with proper facilities for handling all freight and passenger traffic. Also to have maintained a telegraph office and by doing this to place Glendale on the map of the railroad companies as an independent city. At the present time we have no station on any railroad or line of railway, no freight depot other than the freight depot on the Salt Lake railway and the freight and passenger depot of the Pacific Electric street railway.

The location at or near Broadway and San Fernando road for an industrial site appeals to the committee for the following reasons:

1. As yet very little building of any kind has been done in that section.

2. It is sufficiently near the city of Glendale to be within reach of the residents of the city without too much trouble, and still sufficiently far away from the center of the city to not interfere with residence or business property.

3. It is accessible to the Southern Pacific railroad, the San Fernando boulevard, the high-power lines of the electric companies, the gas mains and oil mains—in fact, it has every advantage for the furnishing of light, power and transportation convenient for all business that may be established. It is at a point practically the lowest in the city and would therefore not interfere, from the standpoint of drainage, with any part of the city. It would be convenient for the railway station, should the same be established, and while a portion of this section is not yet within the city limits, a way could be provided for the annexation of the same if that be desirable.

As stated before, the committee has communicated with the officers of the Southern Pacific with a view to having a station established as above stated, but as yet has received no definite reply. It is well to bear in mind that this matter can be taken up before the railroad commission with a view to having a station established as contemplated by the committee in the event of a failure or refusal of the railway company to do so.

With the establishment of a depot we believe all other things would of necessity follow for the proper location and establishment of such a district.

The committee, having in view the establishment of a depot as one of the important features in its plan, and the usual delay in dealing with the officials of a railway resulting, has of necessity been delayed in making a report, it being the desire of the committee to render the report at a time when it had the assurance of the establishment of a depot. It has been the judgment of the members of the committee that the report be withheld until such time as something definite along the line indicated had been accomplished, it being the belief of the committee that publicity before the accomplishment of that purpose would not aid in bringing about the result desired. But, on account of a desire on the part of many people who are interested to know what the result of the committee's work has been, and upon a request made for a report at this time, this report is now made.

Respectfully submitted,
FRANK L. MUHLEMAN,
FREDERICK BAKER,
JOHN ROMAN,
J. H. FLOWER,
E. H. EMERY.

INFERTILE EGGS

Farmers are being urged by the poultry specialists of the department of agriculture and also by various state agricultural colleges to produce infertile eggs by removing roosters from their flocks of hens as soon as the eggs for hatching have been secured. This suggestion also might well be followed by amateurs or others who raise poultry on a small scale to supply their own household with eggs. It is particularly useful for owners of small chicken yards who follow the practice of putting down eggs in water glass for winter consumption.

The chief reason for producing infertile eggs is the fact that an infertile egg keeps good very much longer than one which has in it a germ fertilized by the male bird. It is estimated that one-third of the loss in eggs in this country, which amounts annually to millions of dollars, is due to the fact that the eggs have been fertilized. In the case of a fertile egg, very little heat will start the germ to develop much as it begins to hatch out under the hen. In uneven summer heat the germ may start to hatch and then when the temperature falls may die, and this makes the red spot or blood ring in an egg. If a fertile egg is kept at 103 degrees Fahrenheit, at the end of 24 hours the germ will begin to develop, and after three days the blood vessels of the embryo chick will be clearly distinguished in the yolk. On the other hand, an infertile egg under the same temperature, will show merely slight change and continue to be good food. At the same time any egg, fertile or infertile, should be kept as cool as possible, as heat will cause any perishable food to deteriorate rapidly. Removing the rooster from the flock has no effect whatever on the laying habits of the hens, although there is still a popular belief that a rooster is an essential in the flock.

The department has suggested the following rules for handling eggs on the farm and these can be followed profitably by any egg raiser.

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Farmers are urged to follow these simple rules that cost nothing but time and thought and will add dollars to the poultry yard returns:

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.

PRESERVING FRUIT

With the season of preserving and canning fruit at hand, many housewives who like to put up their own fruit are urged to use some preserving or canning compound. The argument is that this makes the work much easier and insures the keeping quality of the food. As it happens, the principal ingredient in many of these powders is salicylic acid, which is well known as a poisonous substance and which frequently leads to derangement of the digestion.

In cases of acute articular rheumatism and certain other diseases, salicylic acid is useful as a medicine when properly administered, but may be a dangerous ingredient in food. Other powders and preserving compounds contain boric acid and are frequently sold under fanciful names at prices much in advance of their real value. The worst feature about these powders is that, while they may prevent the decay of the fruit or vegetable, they also encourage uncleanly or careless work. In addition, if they are eaten with food in excessive quantities, they may very well have a bad effect upon the health. The housewife who takes pride in her work will realize that heat, sugar and cleanliness are all that she needs to put up excellent fruits and vegetables that will keep perfectly. Therefore, there is no excuse for running any risk by using preserving powders. The department of agriculture has issued many bulletins and pamphlets showing how to put up fruits and vegetables and these it will be glad to supply without cost.

MRS. EDDY'S MONUMENT

Editor News: There is to be a monument erected to Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy in Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, at a total cost, including a maintenance fund, of $110,000. This is a little puzzling, for if the contention of Christian Scientists is true, that nothing exists outside the mind, save in the imagination, where is the monument going to be? In the imagination? It seems a rather big price to pay for an imaginary monument. Moreover, if we may believe Mrs. Eddy, all matter is an error of "mortal mind." Yet here are her affluent followers perpetuating a "heresy" it was her life and mission to combat!

THE RED FRONT

EAGLE ROCK

Hollis, Leake, star football and baseball man of Los Angeles high, will enter Occidental this term. He is accustomed to the old game and should prove a valuable man to Occidental. Leake was chosen on the all-southern rugby team last year, and as a performer in baseball in the high school ranks was considered next to none.

Last Friday evening the choir of the Methodist church was organized and the following officers chosen: President, Mrs. G. R. Kingdon; director, Mr. G. Kongdon; secretary, Miss Olive Moe; treasurer, Miss Flora Winstel. The choir is planning giving an "old time" concert to raise funds to purchase a piano for the church.

Mrs. E. Chandler of Woodrow avenue has as her house guests her sisters, Miss Mary Ingram from Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. R. Gore of Riverside. Miss Ingram was here visiting a year ago this summer and is much taken up with California.

A. A. House and his crew are on the last stretch of the cobblestone wall job of Geo. Diddock's and expect to complete it this week. The wall is a great attraction to passers-by along Colorado boulevard and it adds much beauty to Mr. Diddock's elegant hillside villa.

Mr. L. R. Stevens left last week for Reedley, Cal., where he is supervising superintendent of the schools there. Mrs. Stevens and three boys left Tuesday morning for Reedley to join Mr. Stevens. These people have made many friends who regret their departure, but wish them great success in their new home.

Mrs. Thew and daughter attended the San Diego exposition last week. Mrs. Thew is the mother of Mrs. Bessie Thew Miller of West Sycamore avenue and is spending the summer months touring California. She and Miss Thew came here recently from the East.

Mr. McKelvy's pretty new bungalow on North Highland avenue is completed and with his family he is now occupying it.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carney of Acacia avenue have returned from visiting relatives at Mt. Washington. They are well known in Glendale, being former residents of that city.

Occidental college and friends deeply mourned the passing away last week of William Hall Kelso at his home in Inglewood. Besides his family he leaves a large circle of friends and especially the members of Occidental college, as Mr. Kelso was a trustee of that institution for eighteen years. He was also vice-president of the Inglewood First National bank.

The fourth union service of the three churches was held Sunday evening at the Methodist church, with Rev. Smith of that church and Rev. Knoph of the Congregational church in charge, and Rev. Kirkes, a Presbyterian minister, delivered the sermon, which was indeed very interesting to all. The Methodist choir rendered a beautiful anthem, "God Be Merciful," and the ladies' quartet sang "One by One." The next union service will be held at the Congregational church.

Mrs. F. G. Hammer of Los Angeles was in Eagle Rock Tuesday calling on friends and relatives. She was formerly a resident of this place.

The Home Missionary society of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. G. R. Kingdon on Thursday afternoon. A fine musical program was given after the business session.

Of the 150 freshmen to be enrolled at Occidental college this term twenty-eight will be from Pasadena. This announcement was made by the college registrar August 18. Twenty-three of these live in Pasadena proper, the remaining ones from South Pasadena.

LA CRESCENTA

Mrs. H. Boedeker and son of Dallas, Texas, who have been visiting Mrs. S. Rheinschild and family for the past three weeks, started on their return trip home Tuesday, having included both expositions in their trip. Mrs. Boedeker and Mrs. Rheinschild are sisters and have enjoyed a most pleasant visit.

Mrs. Joe Hawkins and children and their guest have just returned from the San Diego exposition. They made the trip by auto and had an entertaining and delightful trip.

Mr. Lew Austin Wallis and Miss Marguerite Hauber of La Crescenta have just completed a beautiful song entitled "In the Valley of Crescenta." They are now working on another song called "On the Banks of Killarney Far Away." Miss Hauber is a splendid musician and composer, while Mr. Wallis is a talented composer and comedian, formerly with the Daisey Bell Comedy company of New York. These young folks will be seen in the near future in a one-act drama written by Mr. Wallis entitled "The Old Clothes Man," which Mr. Wallis played with great success in New York. Miss Hauber will assist in a leading part. It will be first seen at the new schoolhouse when completed.

The Goss Canyon Water company have called a special meeting of the stockholders for Saturday, August 28, for the purpose of considering the question of the advisability of sinking a well or extending their tunnel another one hundred feet, as while they now have plenty of water, yet they are looking ahead and wish to be prepared for the growth of the valley, which all know is bound to come and that soon.

A party of young people, consisting of the Misses Matie Collins and Marguerite Hauber and Messrs. Leo Gerckins and Howard Ford, went to Venice last Thursday, where they met by appointment a party of students from the Polytechnic high school and spent a most enjoyable day.

Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge and Mr. and Mrs. Bray of Los Angeles were guests Sunday of the J. L. Hauber family.

The board of directors of the La Crescenta Water company have appointed a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. Kramer, Hawkins and P. Escalle to secure options on certain pieces of water-bearing land for future development.

Mr. Harvey Bissell has gone to San Francisco for a ten days' visit.

Miss Matie Collins of Montrose will leave for San Francisco the first of the month and from there will go to Banning, where she will make her home.

Miss Minnie Young of Los Angeles visited her sister, Mrs. Waltz, last Sunday.

Rumor says that the grading outfit which is to turn Michigan avenue into the Foothill boulevard will locate near Pennsylvania avenue and work both ways and that work will commence about the middle of September.

Mrs. Dr. Cloud and daughters, the Misses Marguerite and Dorothy, went to San Francisco last week. They will return by Berkeley in order that Miss Dorothy may register in preparation to attend school there the next year.

The register of the Fairmount hotel continues to show many new guests and Mr. Hangar and his estimable wife are much pleased thereby. Among those registered from a distance since our last issue we note Mrs. L. W. Holland of Chicago, Mrs. M. V. Seymour of Monrovia, Miss Bertha N. Wiseman of Brooklyn and Messrs. C. F. Peddy, A. Mott and H. E. Brown of Long Beach.

Mrs. J. S. Erwin was a Los Angeles visitor on Monday.

Mrs. D. Van Giesen of Los Angeles, who is a guest at the La Crescenta hotel for a vacation, entertained a party of Los Angeles friends there last Monday.

F. C. Eckert of Eagle Rock is registered at the La Crescenta hotel this week.

Miss Roberta Hopping spent a few days with her friend, Miss Isabel Thompson, of Oakdale, recently.

Chris Skow and sister, Miss Minnie, went to Catalina last Saturday and returned Sunday night, enjoying a delightful day on the jeweled isle of the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Walper returned Monday to their home in Pasadena. Mrs. Walper is now fully recovered, but it is probable that they will return to the pleasant Skow home to spend the week-ends during the summer season.

Forest Ranger Silkwood reports two arrests during the past week. C. D. Morgan of Los Angeles was fined $50 for leaving his campfire burning in the Big Tejunga canyon, while on Friday an old man who was burning brush back of Sunland and it got away and did considerable damage, burning the water gate and charring about a mile of pipe for the Tejunga Water company. In view of the straightened circumstances of the old man in the latter case, the warden recommended that Judge Miller give a suspended sentence, which was done. Had the circumstances been different, a jail sentence would have been the penalty.

Contract Let for School Building

At the meeting of the school trustees last week T. H. Addison of Glendale was awarded the contract for erecting the new schoolhouse, and work is to commence at once and must be finished in 110 working days. Bids were as follows: T. H. Addison, $13,187; W. L. North, $13,650; G. W. Galbreth & Co., $13,999, and George E. Snow, $14,555. The building will be one story and basement, with concrete basement, hollow tile walls, with plastered exterior and composition and tile roof, old mission style. The auditorium to seat 350 people will occupy the center with hallway on either side connecting to three rooms, two on the north and one on the south, and the building is so arranged that additional rooms can be added without detracting from the appearance. The building will occupy a space of 108x112 feet and will also contain toilets and lavatories.

OAKDALE

Miss Clara Jones went to Huntington Park Sunday to confer with the school trustees of that city. Miss Jones is the principal of the Huntington Park city schools.

Walter Clarke is the proud possessor of a new dog bought to replace the one recently poisoned. The new dog is an Airdale and has a long pedigree.

The Oakdale Social club held its regular meeting last week on Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. and Miss Jones as hostesses. The usual good time took place and dainty refreshments were served. The club will meet with Mrs. E. J. Foy next week.

George Russell and his friend, Clarence Thompson, have returned to their home at Fort Dodge, Iowa, after a short visit with Mrs. G. B. Russell. The young men have been absent from home about three months, visiting relatives and attending the expositions.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mrs. G. B. Russell will be sorry to learn that owing to business reasons she has decided to sell her beautiful home, Audubon, as will be seen from our classified advertising columns. Should she not find a buyer soon, the place will be for rent to suitable tenants. It is a very desirable piece of property and will be a good investment at the low price offered. Oakdale is sure to be one of the beauty spots of Southern California.

A merry party of young Oakdale folks hiked up to the Briggs canyon last Sunday, where they picnicked and dined among the beautiful live oaks and mountains. They have also organized a club, called the Oakdale Hikers, among the members being: Mr. and Mrs. Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Elingston, Mrs. L. M. Clark, Miss Edna Wellborn, Mr. Lew Austin Wallis, Miss Clara Jones, Mr. Herbert Lugger, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Foy and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Foy.

A merry crowd of Oakdale and La Crescenta young people enjoyed a hayrack ride over into the Littlelands last Saturday evening, where they picnicked by the light of the moon and had a delightful time generally. Mrs. Millar and a friend of Michigan avenue, La Crescenta, acting as chaperones of Gladys and Isabel Thompson, Dorothy Cookson, Violet Brown, Beatrice Walker, Carol Foy, Bruce Thompson, Albert Bertrand, Louis Scherb, George Skow, Theodore Hopping and Wallie Clarke.

W. G. PAUL, TRAVELER AND EXPLORER, CHOSES LITTLELANDS FOR HOME

One of the thriving industries of Littlelands is the pigeon lofts of W. G. Paul on Stevens way. The plant has grown steadily, Mr. Paul recently adding two more units, making a total of ten, accommodating nearly six hundred birds. He aims not so much at the production of squabs, for which he finds ready sale, as for improvement of the breeding quality of the justly famous Homer pigeon, having already several hundred pairs selected only from parents with a record of nine to eleven settings each year. His foundation flock was from the famous Plymouth Rock lofts of Boston, and by the elimination of slow-breeding pairs and by careful selection of the young birds, Mr. Paul has built up a flock with unusually high breeding records. His birds make a pretty picture—birds snow white, silver, buff, golden brown and blue and combinations.

Said Mr. Paul: "I find it fascinating work and expect to devote years not only to the improving of present breeds, but through selection and forced matings, develop new strains. A careful study of the pigeon is a lesson in devotion and faithfulness which might well be imitated by the human family."

Mr. Paul is quite widely traveled, having spent fifteen years in Asia, South America and Africa, usually in out-of-the-way places. He was a member of the expedition into Eastern Ecuador eighteen years ago, known as the Putamaya country, the beginning of that mighty forest of the Amazon basin containing even today thousands of square miles of dark and gloomy forests unknown except to the Indians that people that wilderness. The expedition prior to entering Ecuador had journeyed through Southeast Colombia, famous for its rubber forests, but not so extensive as found in the Putamaya.

A few years after Mr. Paul left South America an English corporation secured concessions to gather rubber there, and how they enslaved the Indians, working and starving them until the tribes were threatened with extinction, made the "Putamaya scandal" rank with the atrocities of Leopold in the Congo, or the early Spanish conquestadores.

In Asia Mr. Paul was one of the seven members of the Grey expedition, which spent three and a half years in travel through Southwestern and West China, across the wastes of the Gobi desert, Turkestan, the Tokla-Makan desert and the Kuen Luen and Himalaya mountains of Thibet and India—an expedition botanical and ethnological, but primarily geological and geographical, inaugurated by the Daily Telegraph of London and finally taken over and financed by the English government.

The 6000 miles journey by pack horse, camel and yak was one of extreme hardship, particularly the crossing of the Great Goli desert and negotiating the passes of the Kuen Luen, Karakorum and Himalaya mountains at altitudes of from 16,000 to 18,000 feet. But these hardships, though in two instances meaning loss of life, were compensated by the discovery of extensive ruins of ancient cities in the now waterless wastes of the Tokla-Makan desert, of great deposits of iron, copper, coal and petroleum on the Chino-Thibetan border, and again in the Kuen Luen mountains, of new discoveries in the botanical world and of correcting geographical errors, since 700 miles of the journey was through unexplored country.

In addition to service in the Civil war in Colombia, South America, and the siege of Pekin, China, Mr. Paul has pretty well covered the western half of this continent by foot or on horseback from British Columbia to the west coast of Mexico, but finding no spot where the blending of climate and scenery was so perfect as in Southern California. He has elected to become a "fixture" and has chosen Littlelands and the Monte Vista valley for a home.

T. A. Magee and Miss McKellar, both of Downey, arrived in Sunland Monday to spend the greater part of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley on Hill street.

The Ladies' Aid society of Sunland has just had a large stone oven installed in the park, which is large enough to barbecue meat. Picnic parties will find the oven of great convenience and this new improvement will greatly add to the popularity of the park with outside parties.

Robert Freeman and Arthur Blumfield and family motored to Santa Barbara this week, where they will enjoy fishing and other delights of the popular resort.

W. H. Nance is among the most recent of our citizens to purchase an auto. His new Ford arrived last week and he gave it a good try-out Sunday, he and his family having a most enjoyable motor trip.

The Ladies' Aid society of Sunland held an ice cream social at the park Monday evening. The weather was not just what the ladies would have chosen for an ideal evening to sell ice cream, as it was so cool under the trees that it was found necessary to build a fire to warm up many present both before and after eating the ice cream. However, all had a most enjoyable time and the event was a great social success, if not a financial one.

As reported last week, L. Maxwell and family will move to Los Angeles about September 1 and the Monte Vista Park hotel, which has been so ably managed by Mrs. Maxwell, will be conducted by Mrs. Henry Bradstetter, the owner of the property, who has recently returned to Sunland after proving up a valuable claim in the Little Tejunga valley.

This valley is certainly furnishing its full quota of young men for the United States navy. This week Don Cowlin, Chancelor Livingston and Elwood Lewis left for the U. S. training camp at Mare Island, near San Francisco, where in a short time they will become members of the crew of one of the United States battleships.

Mrs. C. B. Bisbee of Thermal, in the Coachella valley, is visiting her sister-in-law at the W. T. Somes home. Mrs. Bisbee informs us that Thermal is 197 feet below the sea level and that the thermometer was registering 118 degrees when she left. Needless to say, she is enjoying the climate of La Canada very much.

Miss Marjorie Bentley starts for Berkeley the last of this week, where she enters the state university.

Rev. Mr. Morrison of the Pasadena Congregational church filled the pulpit of the church here most acceptably last Sunday.

GOVERNOR'S CHAUFFEUR

A lot of newspaper space has been used in telling about jobs to be handed out by the governor, but one job has been entirely overlooked. The governor is empowered to appoint his own personal chauffeur at a salary of $125 a month, said salary to be paid by the state. But there is little chance of the appointment being made. The governor runs an electric.

OFFICIAL LINGUIST

Pat Kerrigan, genial watchman at the capitol building, whose duties require him to show tourists around the building and grounds, learned Greek, Chinese, Portuguese and several other languages that he might fully explain all points of interest to persons of all nationalities and from all parts of the globe. "And just when I began to think I was well prepared," says Pat, "what should come along but a delegation of deaf mutes."
